archTIS Wins $296K Contract with Australian Department of Defence

- archTIS secured a contract with the Australian Department of Defence for software support services for the expanded deployment of NC Protect.
- The total contract value is AU$296,000 for software support services for the architectural scope and deployment of NC Protect.
- The contract continues the expansion of the NC Protect platform within the Australian Department of Defence since archTIS merger with Nucleus Cyber in December.

archTIS Limited (ASX:AR9), a global provider of innovative software solutions for the secure collaboration of sensitive information, today announced that the Company has entered a contract with the Australian Department of Defence for the expanded deployment of NC Protect.

The contract, valued at AU$296,000, is a software support engagement for archTIS for architecture and implementation services for the migration of NC Protect. The contract is effective immediately for a fixed term ending 30 June 2021. The contract is subject to standard termination clauses in the event of a material breach of contract, however the contract cannot be cancelled by either party before expiry of the fixed term for convenience only or without cause. The contract is otherwise subject to standard terms and conditions for contracts of this nature.

Daniel Lai, archTIS Managing Director, said: “I am pleased that our footprint within the Australian Defence ecosystem for NC Protect is quickly expanding. The need to securely share sensitive and classified information is paramount for defence. archTIS portfolio solutions are uniquely able to deliver secure policy-based access and sharing to safeguard even the most sensitive information. This project provides further validation of our merger with Nucleus Cyber and the synergy between our products.”
