ASX Announcement: AR9

archTIS' wins landmark $4.2 million Australian Department of Defence Joint Capabilities Group Contract

Highlights:

- archTIS has secured a landmark contract with the Department of Defence to perform a risk reduction activity for multi-national information sharing and cross domain services.
- The total contract value is $4.2 million which includes three licenses of archTIS Kojensi enterprises platform (600 users) and associated implementation services.
- The risk reduction activity will be conducted over the next 12 months and will include development, building and accreditation activities to provide Defence with an information sharing architecture pattern for cross and multi-domain services between different warfighter and Allied partners.
- This is the company's largest contract to date, evidencing both its growing maturity as well as the Department's commitment to invest in premium sovereign information security capabilities.

archTIS Limited (ASX:AR9), an award-winning, Canberra-based technology company focused on protecting and facilitating collaboration of sensitive and classified information, is pleased to announce that it has entered into a contract with the Australian Department of Defence to conduct a risk reduction activity. archTIS will lead the development of a cross domain information sharing capability for the purpose of defining an accreditable cross/multi domain information architecture pattern for Defence.

This activity is aimed at reducing risk to and informing Defence on future capability decisions and acquisitions. The contract value is $4,200,000 and includes three instances of archTIS Kojensi platform for the enterprise to the value of $760,000 with $3,440,000 in services. The contract will commence immediately with an expected duration of approximately 9-12 months unless extended.

Daniel Lai, archTIS CEO, welcomed the new contact said: "I am delighted that archTIS has been selected lead this risk reduction activity. The need to share, control and trust information in the warfighter domain, between forces and with allies remains a critical requirement and archTIS is well positioned to deliver on this."
